SATURDAY MORNING SEPT 19, 1863

Northern Democrats, the Hope of Rebels.

Where do the lurking rebels now look for encouragement and aid? We know that their armies are disorganized and well nigh defeated their most important strongholds captured, terror and dismay at the victories recently won by our armies have seized upon them, and their demand for the last white man and half a million negroes is a confession of their despair yet more than this they admit the hopelessness of the conflict, unless they can have foreign intervention, or the support of a Northern Democratic party to which last, they look as in all times past as the main sustenance of Southern interests And as they have heard of riots, of opposition to the conscription, of Vallandigham's nomination, and of the acquiescence in that base trick of base traitors by men professing to love the Union, their hearts have been encouraged and their hopes revived They think now, less to their military ability to bring them through the struggle which they have invoked, than to the aid and comfort of Northern sympathizers, who are sure single arranging plans to secure the supremacy of the Democratic party and with it the recognition of the Confederacy Hence, and from the sympathy of Northern Democrats they expect to derive their strongest and most reliable aid Have not these from the beginning been fellow conspirators with the rebellion against the Union? Have they not done all that they could do to aid treason? Have they not labored to promote riots, insurrection disapproval of the arrest of traitors, and in every way possible, sought to weaken the power of the Government and to cause disaffection? This being so, how can any patriotic man, whatever may be his political professions, support a sympathizer with those whose purposes are so destructive and mischievous? How can loyal men, calling themselves Democrats, sustain a system of political action which must lead to National ruin? The issue is a simple one, modern Democracy supports and aids rebellion—those who sustain that sort of Democracy are accessories of treason. That is the whole of it Our readers will choose whom they will serve If they prefer and follow Democracy, as now known and administered, they are traitors, as much as Vallandigham or Fernando Wood; if they have sufficient patriotism and personal and moral independence, to stand by the country in spite of politics and of party, they will justly be recognized as true lovers of the Union, and will be so known and respected

ROBBERY.—Mr L Bowers arrived in this city last evening on the Hunt He left "Hogem Diggings" with $11 000 in dust accompanied by S L Lindsay, who had $1,700 in dust, on the last day of August While passing through the valley of Burnt river, they were attacked by five armed men who made prisoners and robbed them of all their dust It is supposed that some of these robbers, though they were masked, are known, and that one of them is now in the city It is well understood that there are many spunds of road agents about the upper country, and that this is not the last robbery we shall hear of the present fall

DISMISSED FROM THE ARMY.—Major G O Haller, 7th U S Infantry, has been dismissed from the regular army, for disloyal conduct and utterance of disloyal sentiments, his dismissal to date from the 25th of July last Major Haller was long stationed on this coast

A WORTHY TRIO.—According to a Richmond correspondent of the Knoxville Register, the rebel President Vice President and Secretary of War are for representatives of Famine, Pestilence and Death; The correspondent remarks that the germ of famine conduct this revolution, and adds

President Davis is the shadow of a man Vice President Stephens is imponderable and Secretary of War Seddons ponders rattle when he descends the stairway of his hotel The writer thinks if the Yankees knew to what extent famine may be endured and how very little can sustain human life and had seen this trio of worthies the idea of resorting to famine as an agent of hostility to a people whose leaders are the very impersonation of hard times, would never have been adopted

ANATHEMA.—Dr. Holmes, in his Fourth of July oration, thus anathematises the infamous South Carolinian, Ruffin who on the 12th day of April, 1861 commenced the civil war in America by firing the first gun

"To make sure that no absence of malice aforethought should degrade the grand malignity of settled purpose out of the brutal effervescence of transient passion the torch which was literally to launch the first missile to ignite the flame of civil war was given into the trembling hand of an old white headed man the wretched incendiary with an history will handcuff in eternal infamy as in the complete burner of ancient Ephesus The first gun that spat its iron insult at Fort Sumter sent to every loyal American full in the face

ON PAROLE.—The editor of the Democratic Standard Virginia City asks why he was the defeat of his party in that city very briefly He says We met the enemy yesterday and are out on parole this morning

From Boise

The following is from a letter from a friend dated Centreville Sept 9th

Flour has been very scarce ruling at $50 to $60 per hundred for some weeks but more is now coming in and sales are—self ring $35 per sack of 50 pounds common $14 do Horses command good price from $45 to $100 Large parties have left for the States going via Salt Lake City and Denver within three weeks past The Salt Lake express leaves Bannock more regularly than it arrives The new diggings on Middle Fork are reported to be paying from $50 to $5 per day I was going there now however as the trail is not one people admire to travel on, and grub is scarcely to be got into that section Gruber and bear are plenty in that section also salmon in the Middle Fork and it is supposed miners can work there principal part of the winter using water for mining purposes from the hot springs that abound in that section

Among a party that left here for those diggings on the first of the month was a Mr McFarland, an old gentlemen The second or third day out from Bannock he complained of being ill and dropped behind the party His companions waited for him to come up then started on again, when he again fell back The company kept on until about 10 o'clock p m, then camped for the night expecting him up soon But as evening deepened into darkness and he did not make his appearance they supposed he had fallen in for the night with some other party on the way, and did not go back In the morning they sent word that they would wait until noon for him but as no other party overtook them they concluded to return and search out him As they were returning they found the party that he left them in the morning digging a grave for the old gentleman He had apparently sat down by the trail to rest, and was found dead They gave him as good a burial as circumstances would admit of placed at the head of his grave a proper headboard, and sent back the news of the sad occurrence His effects will be properly cared for by his friends, and the proceeds sent to his family who are living at Knoxville in Missouri He had been engaged in the shoemaking business at Centreville, to which place he had come from Florence

Boise City and Idaho City near the new military post on Boise river still go ahead in true style Some building is also still being done here, at Centreville and at Placerville Cummings Point, half way between Centreville and Fort Hogem is rapidly assuming the proportions of a town Its support is mostly from the mines in Grimes Creek, Bummer Hill and the gulches near by

J H Williams proprietor of the Idaho Hotel on Grimes died very suddenly last night Yesterday he was on the street as usual while to-day he sleeps his last sleep He died of heart disease

I am told considerable excitement has been raging in town during the past week out of the progress of the trial of E Willey for the shooting of W H Sutton, at Centreville on the 2nd ult The different newspaper contraband, and the valley below are gradually drawing off the large surplus of men that have been living idle since water began to dry up, but yet there is an excess of laborers, and day wages has come down to $5 per day, laborers boarding themselves at that

Groceries are advertised to leave here on the 18th inst with nine coaches and an escort of ten armed men with passengers and treasure, to the steamboat landing Fare $25, and treasure at liberal rate for carriage More anon INCOGNITO

SENATOR HARRIS ON PATRIOTISM.—At the 49th annual meeting of the American Baptist Missionary Union, lately held at Cleveland, Ohio, Ira Harris, United States Senator from New York, the President of the Society, opened the proceedings in an address, in the course of which he spoke as follows

"Certain I am that the hand of God is in this struggle His people should not be slow to recognize it I rejoice that my own brethren have not thought it necessary, in their great convocation, to smother their patriotism The action of this body as its last annual meeting in reference to the stupendous crisis through which our nation is passing gave me the most profound satisfaction The sentiments then adopted, admirable for the nerve and vigor with which they were expressed, were dictated by the most elevated patriotism How true it is, as was then asserted, that the progress of civilization, of freedom, of christianity throughout the world are all involved in the present war Our fathers when they gave us our present form of government, left in it what they had found—a most mischievous and demoralizing element They not only left it, but they protected it with constitutional guarantees—Slavery, in its very nature opposed to freedom, always greedy of power and impatient of restraint, not content with the protection thrown around it by the Constitution, demanded the right of unlimited expansion It claimes to be recognized among the fundamental principles of the Government Because these claims were rejected, it rebelled It commenced its encroachments in our religious associations This venerable body was rent in twain by its imperious exactions At length having deliberately prepared itself for the fearful issue, it has attempted the disruption of the Government itself So long as it kept itself within the limits contemplated by the framers of the Constitution, so long it was entitled to protection The National Government had no right to interfere with it But now, by its own act this impediment has been removed Slavery has rebelled It has committed treason, the great crime of crimes the unpardonable sin It has become an outlaw, and, like other felons it must be tethered and bound As a political power it must be annihilated, and forever There is now no alternative There can be no more negotiation, no more diplomacy no more Peace Conventions, no more abortive expedients Each party has inscribed its principle upon its banner and the bloody contest must go on until the slave power is subdued or our country is overthrown In such a crisis there can be no neutrality He that is not for this country is against it And it becomes every patriot and most of all every Christian pastor to bring his whole influence vigorously into play to the end that the spirit of the nation may be quickened and its self devotion may be strengthened and its energies increased Nobly is this struggle being conducted by our noble army and the record will be a brilliant one I leave others to dilate as to the issue My confidence is still unbroken that these great purposes yet to be accomplished through the instrumentality of this nation, and He will not be baffled in the execution of His own counsels Our country, emerging from the fiery ordeal which now envelops it into a clearer sky, purified and more firmly united and compacted together by the fraternal bond through which it has passed will rise to a higher and nobler career among the nations of the earth, and under an Heavenly guidance move on to the accomplishment of its holy destiny"

The State Fair at Salem

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

SALEM Thursday Sept 17th, 1863

Everybody has heard of the city I am writing from at a distance Salem has undertaken a great deal but Salem has failed in one point of resemblance to Rome she succeeded in the other—failed to be a city, but succeeded in the other Circumstances One can be convinced of the latter fact by taking a walk around town to-day and see it When he has done so he will be willing to ride down to the Fair grounds That will take him twelve minutes, and let him two hours and he can go upon any kind of conveyance—everything being brought in requisition, from a buggy to a stage coach or hay rack to convey passengers to and from the grounds

Here is one vehicle that seems to have strayed out from the front and is running around to try and find the home track It is a buss from the Bivouac and is still called 'South Park and North Beach' in gilt reminding one of the time when city railroad speculations had not emigrated to the Pacific coast

This has been an interesting day for THE TIMES Considerable money changed hands upon the result

The first trial of speed was for trotting stallions, mile heat best two in three There were but two entries Burgess B Carleton's Fly by night and Captain Van Bergen's Emigrant

1st Heat—The start was nearly even but Emigrant did some clean trotting and came home three lengths ahead time 3 02½ (Slow enough)

Second Heat—This was a bad one neither horse doing himself any credit making a dead heat in 2 54

Third Heat—Fly by night made a bad break round and was despairingly confessed in coming home Emigrant worked well all the way and won the race three lengths in 3 01

was by three year old colts single dash There was a fine entry of stock for the trial, enough to show that in time we may expect to have Oregon bred animals of high merit The entries were

F S Barger—Napoleon—Lemmux
F S Burbank—Misfortune
I B Osborne—Buckskin—Rifleman
Mathew Fountain—Flora of the West,
Thos C Starr—Oregon—Rifleman,
T Baskett—Flora
I H Hughes—Charley

This was a fine race between Napoleon and Misfortune the latter winning by three lengths in 1 54

THE CARRIAGE HORSES MATCHED TEAMS

were next brought out to trot a single dash Of these there were seven entries, as follows

J P Welsh—sorrel mares,
J Burbank—bay horses
H G Hawley—blue horses,
J G Reed—brown mares,
Wm G Starr—gunn horses,
J Hall—grey horses
Redwood by the sorrels in 4:02 The blues second best in 4 minutes

ROAD STARS,

matched, in carriage single dash, made the last trial for this day Jockeying

M H Wallace—H west Thomas Mate,
J O Van Bergen—Mohawk and Emigrant

This was the finest trotting that was done to day won by the latter in 3 24

The list of feeling prevailed throughout all the trials and what is surprising, not a word of complaint in regard to the action of the judges or the management of the ground

There was a battalion drill this morning which was said by those who witnessed it to be very creditable to the militia by-ye

The President has to day appointed a committee consisting of Messrs Briggs of Albany, Judge Wilson, Dulles, Carey Johnson, Oregon City James Pearce, Lebanon and Gridley, of Portland, to decide upon the merits of the brass band contest to take place to-morrow prize, a fifty dollar cornet The bands to play each six pieces of music of their own choosing

A special committee consisting of Guy Gibbs, Judge Deady and Gen Alvord was appointed to make a report upon T F Lancaster's 'Combination Lever Power'? It seems to be a new application of the lever, acting upon a wheel and axle The operation of the machine is necessarily slow, but seems to be limited only by the strength of the materials used in constructing it In order to form another special committee is to take into consideration and report upon the different sewing machines, of which there are a great number and variety on exhibition

RUMORS AND INCIDENTS

The number in attendance to day is generally estimated at ten thousand as good natured and jolly as a Yankee husking party Haven't seen a drunken man in the crowd The marshal complains of having nothing to do has had a chance to lock up but one man and he got into a muss about a dog fight The man what drives the circus pitched his tent at the fair grounds to night and exhibited his tricks to a crowded house—standing heads! Upon opening the door the old man grabbed a dollar from one and a ticket from another for about three minutes, when the crowd of lip ears broke him, door keepers, marshals and all, and filled his tent instanter The boys enjoyed the sport hugely but the old man don't see it that way It would seem that the people came to see the show but not to help make one

There is not a single agricultural implement of any kind on exhibition except one threshing machine one harvester, one reaper and one sub soil plow

Lots of fine stock on exhibition cows and calves in plenty but not a drop of milk to put in the coffee Not a place to sleep in town there isn't room enough to set up all night My host thinks he has turned away at six hundred since dark Intends at last to know how to keep a hotel

No contraband intelligent or otherwise wants to die corner to black your boots or just your back Your landlord to supply this deficit furnishes you with brush and paste with which you create a big appetite for breakfast in vain attempts to polish your own countenances I've seen him finished cusses from the city with coat off, and sleeves up struggle half an hour with the brush and then give the job with such a horse to a contraband They literally at when they get home

Bo—everybody is good natured

One day lately as one of the inhabitants of Kamiakin was busily engaged in his garden, he turned up a handsome shaped piece of metal which he concluded was a relic of the bronze period Being unable to form any idea of its use, he went to the house and turned in his native Indian fashion Oh showing her this precious relic she came rushing out of it as great amazement she exclaimed "Booze pot indeed you gawk! it is the best churn you ever saw in your life I've been at this twelve months, and I see less evil that the above old forgot how to make butter by hand operations

How Morgan was Captured.

The Cincinnati Commercial gives the following account of the capture of Morgan and the remainder of his band It is the first full account we have had of the affair and Rue's Bulldog is not made to appear so ferocious as it has been by former writers and we trust that this individual will be induced to protect himself that he was not to engage a guide for Morgan, or suffer the consequence of being caught in bad company

Some twenty men, who first recalled the celebrated point with Major Rue formed one of the gang the day the chase coming directly up the rebels saw they were caught and checked up Major Rue hardly expected a fight But a white flag came forward and with a rude manifestation Morgan to surrender Morgan thought he was dealing with the militia Major Rue replied that he couldn't see it and that if Morgan did not surrender immediately and unconditionally he would open fire up on him A second flag of truce covering Major Steele began to come forward, and Major Rue was requested not to open fire as Morgan had surrendered The Major suspended the surrender and made to him and was not a little surprised to learn subsequently that Morgan had actually surrendered to a militia captain (Barbridge) who was a prisoner, or apparently so, without arms or command and with the rank and file of Morgan's own command Of course, the terms of the surrender—the officers to be paroled, and field and line officers to retain their side arms—were not worth a fig When Major Rue advanced he was met by Morgan, who quickly said, "You have beat me this time," and rode with him through the rebel lines the men forming on each side of the road Morgan expressed gratification that he had been taken by a Kentuckian Major Rue declined to decide what was to be done with the prisoners, till Gen Shackelford came up to whom he had dispatched couriers In about three quarters of an hour, Gen Shackelford arrived and took charge of the prisoners The surrender took place about two o'clock on Sunday afternoon Gen Morgan presented his fine horse to Major Rue He had no sword and was permitted temporarily to retain his pistols"

A young man in California, whose friends at home neglected to write to him for a long time, at length penned the expedient of sending letters to various business men in the neighborhood, inquiring the price of land and stock which he could buy a hand me farm of two or three hundred acres for, intimating that he had large sums to invest By return mail he received no less than seven letters all anxiously inquiring after his health when he was coming home, etc, and he has had three letters every mail since, including some very warm ones from an old and very cold sweetheart

Mr Edward Everett in the last number of the New York Ledger, affirms that "The South really, believe because her ambitious men saw the monopoly of the Government

This is a perfectly fair statement of the fact.

MISANCE.—We wish some of our city officials would gobble up the individual who has the habit of depositing dead rats in the middle of Washington street, between Front and First Five or six were piled up there, Monday all in a state of decomposition They are an intolerable stench, and should be removed. If our memory is not at fault there is an ordinance making it a fine to deposit anything of the kind in the streets Some body violated it

RETURNING.—Quite a number of our citizens returned from the State Fair last evening We speak very highly of the exhibition, and express themselves as well pleased at the manner in which it was conducted

PLEASURE.—Wells, Fargo & Co brought down last evening on the Hunt seventy five pounds of gold dust About $100,000 also came down in the hands of passengers

HOW IS THE TIME.—The weather is now delightful, and a better time will not occur soon than which to repair the streets and side walks

COLONEL.—Hon Geo E Cole, Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory, arrived in this city last evening He will soon start for the East

THEATRICAL.—There will be no performance at the Willamette theatre to night, which we regret to announce Although Julia Dean Hayne feels confident that she has so far recovered from her recent illness as to be able to appear, yet her physician will not permit the attempt to be made before Monday night, during the effort would be followed by a relapse She will positively appear at that time, should nothing occur to prevent, in her favorite character of Mrs Haller, in 'The Stranger'

DRILL.—Two of our military companies have a drill last night They are progressing finely in the exercises

Preaching at the Baptist Church to morrow morning at 10½ o'clock, and at 7½ o'clock in the evening, by the Rev Mr Chamberlain

SPIRIT OF RETALIATION.—The rebels threaten to hang our captured colored soldiers into the navy and to murder their officers They also insult the dead by systematically depriving the white officers in the same grave with the colored soldiers! These acts are outrages upon humanity and civilization Barbarians could not be more disgusting illustrations of inhumanity It is manifestly the duty of the Government to protest against this vandalism, and, if possible, stop it There is but one way to do this We must retaliate And so the Administration has determined The President's proclamation will meet the case exactly For every colored soldier murdered or sold into slavery a rebel soldier will be executed or sold at hard labor upon the public works and the other shall be released

The civilized world will approve this determination It is the highest duty of every government to protect those who are perilling their lives in its defence To neglect this would be a crime and the people will sustain the President for having so explicitly confirmed his purpose to maintain the dignity of the nation, the rights of those in its service, and the laws of war.—Albany Evening Journal

A CANADIAN VIEW OF VALLANDIGHAM.—The Toronto Globe has the following about the Democratic candidate for Governor of Ohio

"The indiscreet friends of Mr C L Vallandigham persist in forcing him upon the notice of the Canadian public We have but a few words to say in reply to the last attack made upon us for the position we lately took in relation to this gentleman Referring again to the party manœuvre of Mr Vallandigham's introduction of anti English resolutions, we have only to say, as we said before, that it was entirely to his discredit Had he really believed that the seizure of Messrs Mason and Slidell was justifiable—though we cannot understand how he could have so believed—he would have been some excuse for him as it is, we on the contrary, had him encouraging to force the Administration into a war with Great Britain, upon a question upon which he knew America was wrong and her opponent right He did this, because he is a traitor to his own people, and desired that the rebellion He did this because he is a bitter enemy of Great Britain He did this, because he knew it would increase his popularity among that side portion of the party to which he belongs whose prime desire is to see a war between England and America. If there is anything admirable, if there is anything praiseworthy, if there is anything which should enlist the respect of British subjects in such a record as this, we confess ourselves unequal to its perception

A QUESTION TO BE ANSWERED.—Capt R F Coffee, stating the value of property destroyed by the neutral English pirates at about three million dollars propounds the following interesting arithmetical problem to our English cousins, who, being "good at figures," will probably arrive at an accurate as well as the solution of it

"If three or four rebel privateers can destroy twelve millions of property in three years—what amount can two hundred Yankee private armed ships destroy in half that time?"

SIR VALLANDIGHAM LEFT THE CLIFTON HOUSE.—It has been denied that Vallandigham was excluded from the Clifton House at Niagara Falls by the proprietor of the Toledo Blade gives the following information that "the reason why the former Vallandigham left there and retired from the country was because the proprietor of the Clifton warned him to leave his house, the reason that since he had been there he had driven away the custom of all the Americans if any stanchly, that those who came to see him were 'roughs and rowdies, and injured the reputation of his house by their drunkenness and rowdyism'"

The Secretary of the Navy has recently ordered all vessels of the Government to be supplied with the new patent Life Preserving Dress, and no one going to sea should be without it On this coast they can be had only of Johnston, Hastings & Co, at these gentlemen's furnishing store corner of Lick Build San Francisco They are the sole agents for California

NUISANCE.—We wish some of our city officials would "gobble up" the individual who has the habit of depositing dead rats in the middle of Washington street, between Front and First. COURT OF RETALIATION.—The rebels threaten to sell our captured colored soldiers into slavery and to murder their officers. They also insult the dead by systematically depositing white officers in the same grave with negro soldiers! These acts are outrages upon humanity and civilization. Barbarians could not show more disgusting illustrations of brutality.

It is manifestly the duty of the Government to protest against this vandalism, and, if possible, stop it. There is but one way to do this. We must retaliate. And so the Administration has determined. The President's proclamation will meet the case exactly. For every colored soldier murdered or sold into slavery, a rebel soldier will be executed, or put at hard labor upon the public works for the other shall be released.

The civilized world will approve this determination. It is the highest duty of every government to protect those who are periling their lives in its defence. CANADIAN VIEW OF VALLANDIGHAM.—The Toronto Globe has the following about the new candidate for Governor of Ohio:

"The best friends of Mr. C. L. Vallandigham must in fairness call upon the notice of the Canadian public. We have but a few words to say in reply to the last attack made upon us for the position we lately took in relation to this gentleman. Referring again to the many manœuvres of Mr. Vallandigham since his introduction of anti-English resolutions, we have only to say, as we said before, that it redounds entirely to his discredit. Had he really asserted that the seizure of Messrs. Mason and Slidell was justifiable—though we cannot understand how he could have so believed—there would have been some excuse for him. But it is, we on the contrary, find him endeavoring to force the Administration into war with Great Britain, upon a question wherein he knew America was wrong and her opponent right. He did this, because he was a traitor to his own people, and desired to aid the rebellion. He did this, because he was a sworn enemy of Great Britain. He did not, because he knew it would increase his popularity among that vile portion of the party to which he belongs, whose prime desire would appear to be a war between England and America. If there be anything admirable, if there is anything praiseworthy, if there is anything which should enlist the respect of British subjects in such a record as this, we confess ourselves unequal to its perception."

A QUESTION TO BE ANSWERED.—Capt. R. F. Tobey, stating the value of property destroyed by the neutral English pirates at about twelve million dollars, propounds the following arithmetical problem to our English cousins, who, being "good at figures," will probably arrive at an accurate as well as plausible solution of it:

"If three or four rebel privateers can destroy twelve millions of property in three years—what amount can two hundred Yankee private armed ships destroy in half that time?"

WHY VALLANDIGHAM LEFT THE CLIFTON HOUSE.—It has been denied that Vallandigham was excluded from the Clifton House. A correspondent of the Toledo Blade gives the information that "the reason why the Hon. Read what amount of Pain and Suffering can be saved by the use of DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

KENNEDY—COMSTOCK. Wayne Co., Ind., Oct. 2, 1863.

Messrs. A. L. Scovill & Co.—I write to let you know what BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA is doing for me. In January I was attacked with Chronic Rheumatism, and for twenty weeks I suffered more than I can describe. I could not lie down, sit up, or turn myself in bed without help. The only way I could get relief was to sit in a chair and rock myself backwards and forwards. I procured a bottle of BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA, and had not taken it more than twenty minutes before I felt relief. I continued taking it for two days, and was entirely cured, and had no return of the disease. I would be glad to have you publish this, that others may know what relief there is for them. My parents-in-law were very much benefited by using it for Rheumatism, and I believe it to be the best medicine in the world. It has given me strength and appetite, and I can recommend it to the afflicted as a great blessing. It has been a real blessing to me in restoring my suffering.

Old In Every Age of the World. the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the credit of human nature that we look for reforms in the medical profession, neither do we find the lady sex of medical reform among physicians. Each department is governed by certain rules and established usage. Hence the opposition with which all innovations are met, whether they exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their merits may be, or the knowledge of value, or good economy in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever come before the public which has done more for the relief of human suffering than DR. J. S. TOBIAS'S VENDIAN HOLAGOGUE. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all. Do you prefer a speedy and effectual cure to a gradual and scientific run of disease? Try the Holagogue, and the object is accomplished. Then tell your suffering neighbor what it has done for you, that it may do the same for him.

Scrofula Cured.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 7, 1858.

MESSRS. A. L. SCOVILL & CO.—Gentlemen: My son, who is now seven years old, has been afflicted with SCROFULA for more than two years. It first made its appearance in small knots on the back of the neck, under the skin. Our family physician, who attended him, said he could cure him, although he had been under his attendance when the disease made its first appearance; and instead of curing him, he grew worse, and finally, the sore broke out in him. Since continued to discharge, until I got DR. MOTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS. He commenced using them about one year ago; and in less than three months he was well; and instead of a weak, delicate child he is now well, healthy and robust. Yours, truly, JAMES ALLEN.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

CUTTERHEAD STATESMAN HIS —Simultaneously with the news of our successes the Copperhead papers of every hue broke into a cry for magnanimity and expatiated upon the noble opportunity of offering terms of peace forthwith Last week the conduct of the war, in their view was imbecile and treacherous, leading only to disunion and anarchy, while the rebel army was marching to desperate and fabulous victories Horace Greeley in the Tribune declared that this nation had experimented long enough in the art of war, and that the time had arrived for the inauguration of a new policy Every disaster was a triumph to the amiable Copperheads every week he hailed as Governor Seymour carried the Academy the taking of Vicksburg, which he said had been promised us on the 4th of July Horrors of public credit general prostration and desolation by moving armies, conquering marches like those of Cæsar in Gaul or of Alexander in Persia—these were the pleasing pictures that gushed profusely from the Copperhead pencil

A battle was fought and won by the loyal soldiers of the country President Instead of the most forlorn, abject, and conquered of people we were at once so superior and invincible that conscience and honor compelled us immediately to tell the enemy that he was overwhelmingly subdued, that he could not hope to struggle with us, and that therefore with sentiments of the most distinguished consideration for the bravery of men who tried to overthrow their government when they thought it utterly unable to resist, and for no cause but to establish a gallant nation of gentlemen who could whip women at their leisure, we begged them to take command of us in future as they had always held it in the past

This is the logical and natural counsel of the statesmanship of Vallandigham and his friends The key of their position, in all they say or do, is the state of things before the war the Democratic party of the free States seeking the slaveholding oligarchy of the South doing the bidding and thankfully receiving the cold pieces of their masters These gentlemen want last year's strawberries They want the earth before the deluge They gravely expect an intelligent honest and resolved people, whose eyes have been opened to an abyss from which they have barely escaped to shut their eyes tight again and play that there is nothing there When those people do shut their eyes and open their mouths, Copperhead statesmanship may give them something to make them wise—but not before —Harper's Weekly

GEN HOOKER'S FAREWELL SPEECH —There are several versions of Gen Hooker's farewell speech to the officers of the Army of the Potomac The latest says the N Y World, is as follows

I tell you gentlemen that at Chancellorsville I was engaged but two hours with Lee while the other twenty two were taken up with the authorities at Washington I never wanted to command this army—never aspired for it—never said I wanted it to any body but was placed there by order of the President I hoped to remain in the army till the rebellion was crushed I did not care so much about being its leader I always said this was the greatest army of the republic and say so still You have fallen into good hands, under a glorious old soldier—(meaning Gen Meade)—a glorious old soldier I have been exiled to Baltimore What I shall do there I don't know, for I don't know a d—d woman, man, nor child there

[Capt Cox, of the Commissary Department, here interrupted and said 'General I'll give you letters' Great laughter from all around]

I won't command where I cannot have entire control myself Already the army has been benefited by the change Ten thousand men have been withdrawn from Harper's Ferry I pity any man who ever commands the Army of the Potomac I encountered many things I little dreamed of when I took command I have been hampered and fettered

[Col Davis—"General, has not that always been the case with all its commanders?"]

Hooker, reluctantly—"It always has"

Gen Hooker at this point passed down the avenue between the tents, to the end of the street or avenue, and again spoke, nearly as follows

I want all reporters, as well as soldiers, to hear what I say and print it in capitals I leave here because my usefulness has departed I shall resign from the army and go to California, where I am respected

EMIGRATION TO NEVADA TERRITORY —The emigration to Nevada Territory this season is very large—literally in multitudes From the Missouri border to that distant section one is never out of sight of emigrant wagons A great part of the tide that started to California and Oregon is stopping there and filling up the silver region of that progressive young Territory One cannot say, however, a great deal for the character of the emigration, as hostility to the Government and the Union cause and the fear of the responsibilities of the draft are motives that have more to do with it than a thirst for Nevada silver The Nevada papers say that Missouri disloyalists, and Iowa Wise men and Illinois peace democrats and draft refugees constitute the bulk of the emigration, and they fear that it will make the young Territory a disloyal State In addition to Nevada, the Territories of Nebraska and Dakotah will constitute a land of promise to all persons who, from similar motives are leaving the older States The Government will soon declare both of them exempt from draft on account of their sparse population, and the threatening aspect of Indian affairs in both of them

BOUND TO HAVE A SUBSTITUTE.—While the surgeons at the office of the Provost Marshal in Philadelphia was going through the round of examinations yesterday, a powerfully pelled colored man who had been drafted came up in turn He explained to the Board the fact of his disability remarking "I suppose that you will have to exempt me" The surgeon so decided The man answered "Well, cripple or no cripple if you won't allow me to go I want to send a substitute, for if you think I am not able I want somebody to fight for me, as I have been drafted" and at the same time produced his substitute for the surgeon to examine, but unfortunately the surgeon was forced to decide that his substitute was also unfit for military duty The colored drafted man then, for the first time, seemed to be a little down hearted, and after pausing for a moment, turned toward the door and as he passed out, said "Well I'll get another if I can, for I'm bound to send a substitute" And, sure enough, in about an hour in he came bringing with him one who is now in camp proudly doing his duty as a soldier —N Y Evening Post

VALLANDIGHAM AND THE BRITISH IN CANADA —The Toronto (Canada) Globe in calling attention to the fact that Vallandigham has been all his life a violent Anglophobist who never missed a chance of libeling Great Britain until he had to flee to her dominions for safety "quickly adds 'Let him be safe, let him be free as we ourselves are but in extending to Mr Vallandigham that protection which but a short time ago we extended to John Anderson the fugitive slave from Missouri, let us not forget that we are British people'

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tumors, and Salt Rheum,

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout,

HONORED SIR I should be ungrateful if I did not let you know how much good your Pills have done me and my family They have brought me literally from my bed and my grave, and relieved me from a painful disease in the bones which baffled the skill of the best physicians in Boston and New York I tried your Pills first because they were the cheapest cathartic in the market, and afterwards because I knew they were the best I have now taken them in my family for several years, and they have never failed to cure us when taken as directed Indeed I should be ungrateful for the kindness of Providence if I did not proclaim the virtues of the remedy which has so singularly proved itself my friend

Yours with great respect
EDWARD PERRILL, Cor of Fire Dept
San Francisco Cal March 1 1862

Dr. AYER Your Pills are the best cathartic we use in our practice, and the most universal remedy we have in the whole materia medica They are constantly used in our hospital, and with the best effects

Yours truly
ALONZO BALL, M D, Physician to the Marine Hospital

Dr. AYER Your Pills are the perfection of medicine We have used them in our family and in our practice for years, and they have done more than any other remedy we can procure to cure the sick and relieve the afflicted, and at less than one tenth the cost of any other remedy Your Pills have saved us from the payment of large bills, and restored to health and vigor those who were fast sinking into the grave

Yours truly
JOHN G MEACHAM
